Hi Everyone,

I just wanted to send this short newsletter out to praise our Lord Jesus as He continues to prove Himself faithful over and over again. I have just returned from the last trip of the year as myself and 13 other Godly men traveled the San Juan River washing feet and sharing the Gospel. The trip was great! Tiring and a little HOT at times but overall, really - really GREAT! There were over 980 Indians that gave their lives to Jesus. Everyone was safe (a few mishaps) but nothing bad. The monkeys kept us up at night with their singing (I guess you could call it that). The alligators kept their distance for the most part and we were able to see lots of birds that one would never see in or around our area. The guys wanted to do away with an alligator or two and have a little fried tail. But the missionary discouraged that and we stayed focused for the most part.

The people we encountered were very open. The missionary thought this could have been a problem since this area was an unreached area. But our Lord truly opened doors and we walked right through. Most of the men, on this trip, returned saying that they received more of a blessing by going than the people received that we served. I personally witnessed Jesus do great things as He was drawing people to Himself everywhere we went. All of the men are looking forward to next year.

I'm currently working on next year's calendar. There are a few churches that already have their trip on the 2011 calendar but several other churches are still considering dates. So keep looking on the trip page of the Happy Feet web-site (<http://www.happyfeetmissions.com/>) and you will notice more and more opportunities showing up as the year ends. I will be in touch as that time comes.

As the busy holidays approach, please don't forget Happy Feet as this is always a difficult time financially for the ministry. Well, as I said, I will be in touch by way of newsletter but if you need to contact me, please feel free to do so (see bottom of this email). Our first trip for 2011 will be in February to Honduras and there are a few out of state preaching opportunities too.

Love you all and tell someone about Him TODAY.
